Marmoleum is the perfect natural yet durable, stylish and versatile floor covering. Its natural qualities meet growing concerns worldwide about the use of renewable and sustainable materials. Its durability ensures that surfaces and colours stay strong and fresh. And its flexibility provides scope to exercise your creative freedom to produce an interior atmosphere that meets your needs.

Produced predominantly from raw, sustainable materials and manufactured according to strict environmental guidelines, only the finest natural raw materials go into the making of Marmoleum. Linseed oil from specially grown flax from Canada. Wood flour from European farmed forests. Rosin tapped from pine trees in Portugal. Jute from India and Bangladesh. Combined, these ingredients produce flooring that is as beautiful as it is natural.

Once installed, Marmoleum is a hygienic and easy to maintain flooring. Marmoleum out-performs other resilient floor coverings with reduced dirt pickup – meaning less cleaning and reduced maintenance costs. This is thanks to Topshield™, the innovative two-layer finish made from a tough, high-density primer, which also provides dramatic improvement in long-term appearance retention and resistance to scuffing and scratching.

Marmoleum is available in sheet or tile form to achieve the look you desire, as well as specialist ranges for acoustic and static control.
